10 September 2009

Dr David Perry retired from the NHS last year and many of you will remember him as an excellent teacher, politician and a very clever medical doctor. He has contributed vastly to the formation and continued success of SEM at QMUL. There will be presentations to mark his contribution by colleagues and friends.

There will also be presentation of dissertations from the medical students who have completed an intercalated BSc (Hons) in SEM.

11 September 2009

Current MSc and BSc students will present their dissertation on research projects undertaken during their academic year at CSEM, Queen Mary. There will also be a keynote speech by a renowned academic. Last year we had Dr Rob Casserley who has summited Mount Everest on at least 4 occasions and he most recently accompanied Sir Ranulph Fiennes in his second attempt of the highest mountain in the world. He gave an inspiring lecture on problems at high altitude and, was in turn inspired to consider becoming a student in CSEM at QMUL
